Donate used working Tablets and help young India learn!

Remember the happiness that swept inside you when you got your first Tablet? You finally had a way to re-envision your goals and empower your learning. You enjoyed creating brilliant things on your device and may be looking forward to advancing your goals with the latest Tablet on the market.

But what do you do with your old Tablet?

With Ratna Nidhi, you have the chance to get the best returns on your used and working Tablets.

You can now donate your old devices like tablets and empower a child's learning in India, and feel the sense of joy sweep inside you once again!

When times are dark, light up their way.

What better time to inspire young India than now?

The pandemic has been an eye-opener in making us realise the importance of tech, and the repercussions of its unequal availability.

There are many children who still do not have access to online learning, and many schools struggle to implement the infrastructure for it. Overall, the pandemic and lack of tech has resulted in the deprivation of India's progress in the education system by 1.5 years.

The impact of this pandemic on education is much worse and not something that can be fixed overnight, but only when we work collectively. So here's your chance to advance the learning of a child and make a significant contribution towards the greater purpose.

Every step you take inspires ours.

When you make an attempt to make a difference for young India, we stand right behind you. Each time you donate a Tablet, we at Ratna Nidhi match your efforts by embedding educational apps on the phone and helping someone in need.

We collectively work with a number of schools and networks in India that help us reach a large number of students with donated tablets. After collecting the Tablets from you, we install educational apps and give them to someone who needs them the most.
